THANKS FOR EVERYTHING. YOU MAKE US WHAT WE ARE.

'All the best' to all of our readers from every student from Hybrid:arts.

LOOKS LIKE WE ARE IN FOR A COLD SNAP

Time to wrap up warm folks! In October the Met Office predicted that the winter of 2005/06 could be the coldest experienced for a decade. This means that there could be an average temperature of 3 degrees celcius (37 farenheight). Remember to take lots of care of yourself and the elderly, who will be especially vulnerable. But most importantly, take advantage of the change in climate and HAVE FUN! Sledgeing, snowball fights, snowmen-building competitions - whatever you do, make sure you do it in a ridiculous, over the top, childlike manner and show no mercy. Snow is your friend. And if you need any inspiration, here' s

CHRISTMAS PARTY UPDATE

On December 16th, Hybrid:arts were host to a galaxy of stars, all exhibiting an eclectic mix of work as part of our festive art exhibition. We would like to say a big thanks to Carr, Cecchinato, Ellis, Golding, Mermoz, Prophet, Simao and Vinciguerra for taking part in the event. The evening was a great success, and put everyone in the mood for Christmas. Guests were able to indulge in a delicious array of traditional Portuguese delicacies and feasted their eyes on a collection of inspiring and unique artistry. Thank you to everyone who attended for making the occasion enjoyable and memorable - we hope you had as wonderful a time as we did. To all of our friends, partners and associates, have a very Merry Christmas and a life-changing new year, and see you back all fresh and rosy-cheeked in 2006.

101 excuses to act like a 5 year old:

One of the less useful suggestions is hunting a coyote....but apparently you can make snow soup...and what is lugging when it' s at home?

Wishing you a very Hybrid Christmas and a Happy New Year.

You are warmly invited to the annual Hybrid:arts seasonal party...a cultural, social opportunity providing artistic Christmas shopping opportunities.

A feast of glamorous artistes will be in attendance, promoting and selling their work.

Viewing by appointment until 20th January 2006

The festivities will be taking place at the Hybrid:arts studio in Leamington Spa on Friday 16th December 2005, opening 6.00pm entrance from car park at rear.
